Sentence Sermons by El Paso Ministers

THERE is a big difference in running a race with patience, and sitting down in meek surrender. We are to patiently remedy all the wrongs we can, but never to patiently endure what we can change for the better.—Rev. W. C. Baber, of the Altura Presbyterian church.

A man is worth only as much as he is worth to his fellow men.—Rev. I. N. Langston, of the Highland Park Baptist church.

To carry in our mind parallel thoughts of the irresistible and the gentle is one of our problems.—Rev. Miles Hanson, of the First Congregational church.

The greatest calamity that could happen to the church today would result from a failure to properly estimate the unseen.—Rev. Perry J. Rice, of the First Christian church.

Most of us are just two-talented people, we belong to the average crowd, but the two-talented people do the big share of the world's work.—Rev. Charles L. Overstreet, of the First Presbyterian church.

A man who has been redeemed by the blood of the Son of God should be pure. He who is an heir of life should be holy. He who is attended by celestial beings, and is soon, he knows not how soon, to be translated to heaven should be holy. Are angels my attendants? Then I should walk worthy of my attendants, yea, my companions.—Rev. Asher A. Davis, of the East El Paso Presbyterian church.

Have you heard of the Christ? If so, like the nobleman take all your perplexities to Him, and He will encourage and bid you depart, and according to your faith in Him so shall it be done unto you.—Rev. Arthur C. Harris, of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran church.

A few moments spent in serious thought has often resulted in a healthy change of conduct.—Rev. D. D. Boyle, at Austin Park Christian church.

Our Lord's life was a life of renunciation and at the same time a life of service. He came not to be ministered unto but to minister. But the climax of Jesus' life of ministration was reached in His vicarious sacrifice on Calvary. He came to give His life a ransom for many. None but God manifest in the flesh could make an atonement for sinners. "And without shedding of blood is no remission." The blood shed for sin is the blood of the lamb of God.—Rev. J. F. Williams, D. D., of the First Baptist church.

Personal faith must become a social force and a missionary impulse.—Rev. C. K. Campbell, of Asbury Methodist church.

He is able to save all who come unto God by Him, is your trust or confidence in yourself that you can stop this and you can do that? A Christian is one who looks to Christ to give power, to grant grace. He is able. "I can do all things through Christ who strengtheneth me."—Rev. Watson M. Fairley, of Westminster Presbyterian church.
